

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN MENTAL HEALTH, ALCOHOL AND OTHER DRUG SERVICES PLAN 2015-2025: BETTER CHOICES. BETTER LIVES.

GREAT SOUTHERN

OVERVIEW

The Great Southern region has a total land area of 38,000 square kilometres, representing approximately 1.5% of the State's total land mass. Albany is the region's administrative centre and home to around 57% of the region's population.

The Great Southern region had a population of 62,700 in 2014 (representing 2.4% of the State's population). By 2025, the population is expected to reach almost 72,000 persons. However, although the population will increase, the percentage of the State's population residing in the Great Southern will decrease to 2.3%.

ABORIGINAL POPULATION

The Aboriginal population in the Great Southern was approximately 2,200 people in 2011, which represented 2.9% of the total Aboriginal population of Western Australia. This is expected to grow to 3,500 by 2025, with the percentage remaining constant at 2.9%.

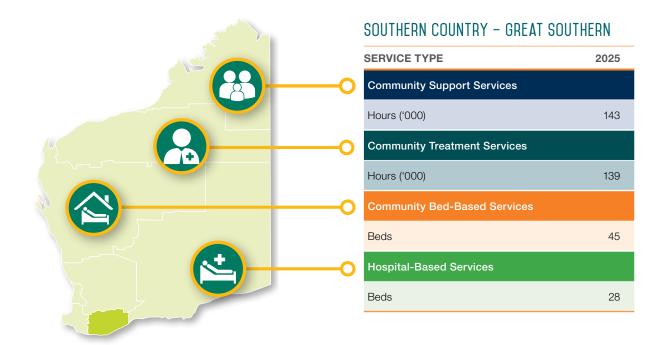

CONSULTATION FEEDBACK

During the consultation process for the Plan, people in regional areas raised a range of issues and priorities, including:

- a need for a greater level of detail about services for their region
- culturally secure services and programs for Aboriginal people
- the high proportion of children and young people in some areas and the need for early intervention
- challenges regarding transport and geographical distance.

The Great Southern consultation provided feedback regarding the delivery of community support services to areas of low population. It is important to note that the modelled demand is for the whole region; therefore consultation needs to occur in relation to how service providers are able to cater for the entire region.

NOTES

Note: All services are Mental Health and Alcohol and Other Drug combined unless otherwise specified.

Define: Hours of Support (community support only): includes face-to-face time only. For example, hours a person spends in respite care, hours spent undertaking an activity, hours of face-to-face support with peer workers, or health, social and welfare support workers etc.

Define: Hours of Service (prevention, community treatment, specialised statewide services, forensics): includes face-to-face time between consumers/carers and staff, travel time, and time for other duties such as administrative requirements, training and research.

Note: the Plan articulates the overall intentions regarding service development and transformation of mental health, alcohol and other drug services over the next ten years. Exact locations and distributions of services as shown are subject to the Government's fiscal capacity and approval through normal budgetary processes, and will be determined by a combination of consultation process and the assessment of relative feasibility to deliver the service.

SERVICES

Community Support Services: give people with mental health, alcohol and other drug problems the help and support they need to participate in their community. Support services can include programs that help people identify and achieve their goals and that assist them to access and maintain employment, education, housing and social interaction.

Community Treatment Services: provide clinical care in the community. These services generally operate with multidisciplinary teams who provide outreach, transition support, relapse prevention planning, physical health assessment and support for good general health and wellbeing. Alcohol and other drug community treatment services also include pharmacotherapy, screening and counselling.

Community Bed-Based Services: provide 24-hour, seven days per week recovery-oriented care in a home-style setting, low medical withdrawal services and structured, intensive residential rehabilitation for people with alcohol and other drug problems, following withdrawal. These services support people to improve their capacity to function independently following a stay at an inpatient unit or to avoid hospital admission where appropriate.

Hospital-Based Services: include acute, subacute and non-acute inpatient units, emergency departments, consultation and liaison services, hospital in the home, mental health observation areas, and alcohol and other drug detoxification services.

SERVICES FOR THE GREAT SOUTHERN BY THE END OF 2025

The Plan models the level and mix of services required across Western Australia by the end of 2025. The need for services in the Great Southern by the end of 2025 includes:

- Significant increases in community-based mental health (to 138,000 hours per year) and drug and alcohol support services (to 6,000 hours per year). These include peer support, employment, education and training programs, housing, social opportunities and help with daily living tasks.
- Increase community-based clinical treatment services for mental health (to 92,000 hours per year) and alcohol and other drug problems (to 47,000 hours per year) including the expansion of drug and alcohol service hubs and increased outreach services.
- For the Southern Country Region (includes Great Southern, South West and Wheatbelt), the increase in community based clinical treatment services for mental health represents a 108% increase on current levels, and for alcohol and other drugs, an almost fourfold increase.
- Increase community-based mental health beds (from 11 to 26), drug and alcohol residential rehabilitation beds (to 17) and provide two community-based beds for low medical withdrawal.
- Increase mental health hospital and hospital-in-the-home (HITH) beds (from 16 beds to 25) which will enable approximately 250 additional mental health admissions per year.
- Three additional hospital beds for medically supervised complex alcohol and other drug withdrawal will enable approximately 110 additional admissions per year.

MODELLING

The modelling which underpins the Plan has been undertaken according to the population in given geographical regions, including:

- North Metropolitan
- South Metropolitan
- Northern and Remote comprising of:
 - Goldfields
 - Kimberley
 - Pilbara
 - Midwest
- Southern Country comprising of:
 - Great Southern
 - South West
 - Wheatbelt

Exact locations and distributions of services will be determined by a combination of consultation processes and the assessment of relative feasibility to deliver the service. For example, if the modelling identifies one bed in a region, consideration will be given as to how that can be adapted or combined with other service types for the practicalities of service delivery in order to successfully and efficiently commission the services required for the region.

The modelling tools' output is provided in hours of service, hours of support or bed numbers; however, these are considered a proxy for the levels of service that will be provided in any given location. The modelled output does not specify the model of service or the service provider.

In consultation with key stake-holders (including consumers, carers, families, and clinicans), models of service will be developed to achieve a degree of standardisation throughout the State. This will enable a consistent standard of service provision, however, this must be balanced with the key aim of personalisation to meet individual needs and adaptability to meet local area characteristics (including service availability, population profile, diversity and cultural factors).
